

ANSWERS

1. Using a word in a way that intends it to be understood in more than one way. Some puns interchange similar sounding words.
2. Puns make use of homophones, homographs, metonyms, or figurative language, and by interchanging similar-sounding words.
3. intentional or unintentional
4. A pun is a joke that exploits the possible meanings of a word and which results in “clean” or silly humor. A pun is always a joke, but not all jokes are puns.