

Name _____

Remembering Together

Short Answer Key

1. The Johnson family's initial reaction to the news of Colonel Mark Johnson's deployment was one of grief, tears, and a profound sense of loss.
2. Participating in the Decoration of Graves event helped the Johnson family cope with their loss by providing them with a way to remember, grieve, and find solace together, surrounded by a community of families who shared their pain.
3. The atmosphere at the cemetery on Memorial Day felt like a mix of sadness and camaraderie, reminding the Johnsons that they were not alone in their grief.
4. Emily, Lily, and Ethan felt a renewed sense of pride during the ceremony because they realized the significance of Colonel Mark Johnson's sacrifice for his country.
5. The Johnsons found comfort in continuing the tradition of Decoration of Graves because it allowed them to keep Colonel Mark Johnson's memory alive and provided a way for them to heal and remember as a family.

