

Name _____

The 100th-Day Oracle

Open-Ended Response Answer Key

1. Alex's ability to predict the future initially brought excitement and success to his classmates, who relied on his guidance. However, it also made life predictable, taking away the element of surprise. As the day went on, they realized the importance of embracing uncertainty and creating their own adventures. They learned to value the present and the joy of experiencing surprises in real time.
2. Alex's final prediction about the 101st day and beyond conveyed the message that life's true magic lies in embracing the unknown and creating their own moments of joy and surprise. It inspired his classmates to look forward to each day with optimism and excitement, rather than relying on predictions.
3. The idea that knowing the future can take away the element of surprise and make life predictable is a thought-provoking concept. It has both positive and negative aspects. While knowing certain outcomes may provide a sense of security, it can also diminish the excitement of experiencing life's unexpected twists and turns. Whether this is seen as beneficial or limiting depends on individual perspectives.
4. Answers will vary, but students may discuss using the ability to predict the future to prevent accidents, make informed decisions, or help others make better choices. Challenges might include the responsibility of knowing sensitive information and the potential consequences of altering the natural course of events.

