

Name _____

The Absurdity Olympics

Short Answer Key

1. The Potato Chip Club challenged participants to carry bags of potato chips while racing on pogo sticks.
2. The Gardening Club attempted to make their watermelons unique by using molds to shape them into squares.
3. In the "human book domino," members of the Book Club lined up like dominoes, each holding a book. The challenge was to see how many books they could knock over in one go, creating a cascade of falling books.
4. The final showdown was the Potato Sack Race Championship, where all the clubs participated in hopping around the schoolyard in oversized potato sacks.
5. The Absurdity Olympics reminded everyone that sometimes, being a little absurd and embracing creativity and silliness can lead to unforgettable moments and bring people together.

