

Name _____

Accountability Counts

Multiple Choice Questions

1. What lesson does The Little Red Hen teach about personal accountability?
  - a) Hard work leads to rewards.
  - b) It is best to let others do all the work.
  - c) Everyone should share no matter what.
  - d) The Hen should have waited for help.

2. How does the Hen handle her responsibilities?
  - a) She gives up when no one helps.
  - b) She waits for someone else to do the work.
  - c) She keeps working even when others refuse.
  - d) She leaves the farm.

3. Why do the animals want to eat the bread?
  - a) They feel bad for not helping.
  - b) They love the smell and want to enjoy the reward.
  - c) They want to bake their own bread.
  - d) They decide to apologize to the Hen.

4. What does the Hen's final decision teach the other animals?
  - a) That they should always ask for food.
  - b) That rewards come from effort, not laziness.
  - c) That baking bread is too hard.
  - d) That working alone is fun.

5. How might the story have ended differently if the animals had helped?
  - a) The Hen would still eat the bread alone.
  - b) The animals would still have refused to work.
  - c) The bread would not have been made.
  - d) They all would have shared the work and the reward.

