Where Does an Armadillo Live?

Open-Ended Response Answer Key

1. The armadillo's shell protects it from predators by acting like armor.
2. An ideal armadillo home would be a burrow with soft soil, near water, and filled with insects to eat.
3. Armadillos live in warmer areas because they lack body fat to stay warm in cold climates.
4. Other animals like rabbits and foxes live in burrows. They are similar because they use burrows for protection and shelter.
