The Dangers Bass Face in the Wild

Open-Ended Response Answer Key

1. Example: Pollution is a big danger for bass because it can poison their food, harm their health, and damage their habitats.
2. Example: Overfishing can remove too many adult bass, which affects the food chain and leaves fewer fish to reproduce.
3. Example: If I were a bass in a polluted river, I might struggle to find clean water, safe food, or places to hide from predators.
4. Example: People can help protect bass by reducing pollution, following fishing limits, and keeping their habitats clean and safe.
