

Name _____

A Day in the Life of a Bee

Open-Ended Response Answer Key

1. Teamwork is important in a bee colony because every bee has a specific job that helps the group survive, from gathering food to protecting the hive.
2. As a bee, I would spend my day flying to flowers, collecting nectar and pollen, and sharing information with my hive about where to find the best flowers.
3. The organization of a bee colony ensures that all important tasks, like feeding the colony and protecting the hive, are completed efficiently.
4. Rest is important for bees because it allows them to regain energy after a long day of flying and working, ensuring they can stay healthy and productive.
