

Name _____

Does a Cheetah Form Relationships with Other Species?

Multiple Choice Questions

1. What type of relationship do ticks have with cheetahs?
 - a) Mutualism
 - b) Commensalism
 - c) Parasitism
 - d) Cooperation

2. Which of these is an example of mutualism involving cheetahs?
 - a) Cheetahs hunting gazelles
 - b) Fleas feeding on a cheetah
 - c) Birds perching on cheetahs to eat insects
 - d) Vultures feeding on leftovers while alerting cheetahs to danger

3. What is commensalism?
 - a) One species benefits while the other is unaffected
 - b) Both species benefit
 - c) One species benefits while harming the other
 - d) Neither species benefits

4. How do oxpecker birds interact with cheetahs?
 - a) They warn cheetahs of danger
 - b) They eat insects off cheetahs' fur
 - c) They help cheetahs hunt
 - d) They share food with cheetahs

5. Why are parasites dangerous for cheetahs?
 - a) They weaken cheetahs and make them vulnerable to disease
 - b) They protect cheetahs from predators
 - c) They help cheetahs find food
 - d) They clean cheetahs' fur

