

Name _____

Diving into Waterborne Diseases: Risks in Regions with Limited Clean Water Access

Open-Ended Response Questions

1. Discuss the impact of waterborne diseases on communities in regions with limited access to clean water. What are the social and economic consequences of these diseases?
2. Imagine you are part of a team working to provide clean water access in a remote village. Outline the steps your team would take to ensure the long-term sustainability of the project and the reduction of waterborne diseases.
3. Why is educating communities about hygiene practices and proper water treatment essential in preventing waterborne diseases? Provide examples of effective educational programs or initiatives.
4. Share your thoughts on the responsibility of governments and international organizations in addressing the global water crisis and preventing waterborne diseases. What role should they play in providing clean water access to underserved populations?

