Colorful Emotions

Short Answer Key

1. Red Crayon feels overworked because it is used for exciting and high-energy things like hearts, fire trucks, and holidays.
2. Duncan realizes this by reading the crayons' complaints, which describe how they symbolize different emotions and roles.
3. Pink Crayon is frustrated because it is only used for princess dresses and wants to show that it can be used for more things.
4. Beige Crayon wishes it could be used for something exciting instead of just wheat, sand, and backgrounds.
5. Duncan creates a new picture where he uses colors in creative ways, like a pink dinosaur and a black sun, giving every crayon a meaningful role.
