How Does a Komodo Dragon Communicate?

Short Answer Key

1. A Komodo dragon uses its forked tongue to collect scent particles from the air and find food or other dragons.
2. They hiss loudly and puff up their body to look bigger and scare off threats.
3. They rub their scent to mark territory and avoid conflicts.
4. Males wrestle to show dominance and win the right to mate.
5. Komodo dragons tolerate each other when sharing a large meal.
