How Do Monkeys Communicate?

Short Answer Key

1. Howler monkeys use their loud calls to mark territory and warn other groups to stay away.
2. Vervet monkeys have different alarm calls to warn about specific predators, like snakes or eagles.
3. A monkey's facial expressions can show emotions like happiness, fear, or anger.
4. Monkeys use scents to mark their territory or let others know they have been in the area.
5. Grooming helps monkeys build trust and strong bonds within their group.
