The Curious Kid's Crazy Experiments

Short Answer Key

1. Max used feathers and helium balloons for the Floating Feather Project. The unexpected result was that the feathers turned into feather-powered rockets when released into the air.
2. The Gigantic Bubble Brew experiment resulted in Max creating a colossal bubble that engulfed him entirely, turning him into a floating bubble boy.
3. During the Vegetable Volcano experiment, Max carved out a cabbage to create a makeshift volcano. When he poured vinegar into the volcano's "crater," it erupted with fizzy bubbles, spewing cabbage-scented foam all over the backyard.
4. Max and his friends illuminated the dark forest in the Glowing Goo Adventure by covering themselves in a mysterious glowing goo. They learned that the goo made them glow in the dark, creating an otherworldly and fun experience.
5. Max organized an impromptu backyard concert with his friends during the Sonic Symphony experiment. The outcome was a cacophony of sounds that created a whimsical symphony and made everyone burst into fits of laughter.
