Where Do Dragonflies Call Home?

Open-Ended Response Answer Key

1. A perfect habitat for a dragonfly would include a calm pond with lots of plants, open spaces to fly, and plenty of insects to eat.
2. Dragonflies are found almost everywhere because they are adaptable and can survive in warm and cool climates, as long as there is water.
3. Pollution can harm dragonfly habitats by making the water unsafe for nymphs and killing plants that they need for survival.
4. If there were no dragonflies, mosquito populations might grow out of control, leading to more insect-borne diseases.
