

Name _____

The Principal's Energetic Day

Open-Ended Response Answer Key

1. The students in the art class might have felt a mix of surprise, amusement, and concern when Principal Johnson created a mural at warp speed on the classroom walls. They might have been amazed by her energy but also worried about the mess and the impact on their art projects.
2. If I were a student at Lincoln Elementary School, I would have likely been both surprised and entertained by Principal Johnson's energetic antics. I might have found her actions amusing and would have enjoyed the unexpected chaos and laughter she brought to the school day.
3. Principal Johnson's outrageously energetic day brought laughter and chaos to the school in various ways. Her hyperactive behavior disrupted the usual routines and activities, turning them into energetic and chaotic moments. This impacted the students and teachers by providing a break from the ordinary and spreading joy throughout the school.
4. The prank played on Principal Johnson likely had unintended consequences, including creating a chaotic and energetic day for everyone in the school. The pranksters might have learned that their actions can have unexpected results and that pranks can sometimes lead to more chaos than they bargained for.

