

Name _____

A Fading Dream

Once, I held a dream so high,
In the vast, open sky.
But now, it fades away,
A vanishing dream, in disarray.
With hope, I aimed to reach the stars,
To break through limits, past the bars.
But life's twists and turns, they came so fast,
My dream, it slipped away at last.
The road was tough, filled with doubt,
I struggled to keep the dream throughout.
But circumstances changed my course,
My dream grew dim, without remorse.
Yet, in my heart, it lingers still,
A fading dream, against my will.
Though it may vanish from my sight,
Its essence stays, like starlight bright.

