Fern's Kindness

Short Answer Key

1. Fern believed it was unfair because Wilbur was small and helpless, and she thought all lives mattered.
2. She fed Wilbur, took care of him, and treated him like a friend rather than just an animal.
3. As she grew older, she became interested in other things, but she still cared about Wilbur.
4. Unlike the adults, Fern saw Wilbur as a living being with feelings, not just a farm animal.
5. Fern's kindness teaches that all creatures, big or small, deserve love and care.
