

Name _____

From Fields to Factories: How the Industrial Revolution Led to Urbanization

Multiple Choice Questions

1. What technological innovations contributed to the Industrial Revolution?
 - a) Invention of the automobile
 - b) Advancements in manufacturing and textiles
 - c) Discovery of electricity
 - d) Development of modern computers

2. Why were factories often located near sources of water or coal?
 - a) To be closer to agricultural areas
 - b) To access better transportation
 - c) To power machinery
 - d) To ensure access to urban amenities

3. What social impact did urbanization have on families?
 - a) Families spent more time together.
 - b) Children and parents often worked together.
 - c) Family dynamics often shifted as children and parents worked separately.
 - d) Families moved to rural areas.

4. How did improved transportation contribute to urbanization?
 - a) It decreased the demand for goods.
 - b) It limited the movement of people.
 - c) It facilitated the movement of raw materials and finished products.
 - d) It reduced economic growth.

5. What challenges did urbanization and industrialization bring?
 - a) Improved working conditions
 - b) Income equality
 - c) Poor working conditions, child labor, and income inequality
 - d) Decreased consumer demand

