

Name _____

Fixing Mistakes

Open-Ended Response Answer Key

1. Without a strong government, states might keep arguing, and there would be no way to solve national problems.
2. If one branch had all the power, it could make unfair rules without anyone stopping it.
3. In a school, a principal, teachers, and students each have different responsibilities to make sure the school is fair.
4. Today, courts can stop unfair laws, Congress can vote on decisions, and the President cannot make laws alone.

