Flat Challenges

Short Answer Key

1. Stanley felt hurt and lonely when the other kids teased him, even though he tried to ignore them.
2. He retrieved his mother's lost ring, slid under doors to help others, and stopped art thieves in the museum.
3. His brother, Arthur, used a bicycle pump to carefully inflate him back to normal.
4. He missed doing normal activities like playing tag and climbing trees, and he didn't always feel included.
5. Stanley disguised himself as a painting to catch the art thieves.
This was important because it helped stop a crime and showed how his difference could be useful.
