

Name _____

Foxes and Their Relationships with Other Species

Multiple Choice Questions

1. What type of relationship occurs when a bird benefits from leftover food after a fox hunts?
 - a) Mutualism
 - b) Commensalism
 - c) Parasitism
 - d) Predation

2. What do ticks and fleas do to foxes?
 - a) Help them find food
 - b) Protect them from predators
 - c) Feed on their blood
 - d) Build their dens

3. Why might a rabbit use an abandoned fox den?
 - a) To avoid foxes
 - b) For shelter
 - c) To find food
 - d) To hunt other animals

4. What type of relationship is it when a fox controls rodent populations?
 - a) Commensalism
 - b) Mutualism
 - c) Predation
 - d) Parasitism

5. Which of the following is a positive impact foxes have on the ecosystem?
 - a) They spread diseases
 - b) They eat plants
 - c) They hunt birds
 - d) They help control rodent populations

