

Name _____

Friends Forever: The Power of Bonds

In the world of friendships, where hearts entwine,
I'll share a story of a friendship divine.

Through ups and downs, through thick and thin,
Two souls found solace, like kin.

Side by side, they laughed and cried,

Through every storm and sunny ride.

Their secrets shared, their dreams set free,

Together, they were meant to be.

But life's a journey with twists and turns,

And sometimes friendships sadly burn.

A misunderstanding, a careless word,

Can shatter what's been so deeply heard.

The pain of losing a friend, oh so deep,

Leaves a void that's hard to keep.

But in the memory of what once was,

There's a treasure that time won't cause.

For friendships formed, though they may end,

Leave lasting lessons that time won't mend.

The power of friendship, the pain of its loss,

Are stories written on life's canvas.

So, here's to the friends who've come and gone,

In our hearts, you forever belong.

For the bonds we share, the love that's true,

Are the echoes of friendships, old and new.

