Frog Defenses - Open-Ended Answer Key

1. Camouflage helps frogs avoid being seen by predators, making it easier to stay safe without having to move or run away.
2. The predator might feel very sick or even be poisoned, teaching it to avoid brightly colored frogs in the future.
3. Answers may vary. A student might choose camouflage because it helps them avoid danger or poison because it makes predators avoid them altogether.
4. Frogs use camouflage and poison like some other animals (like chameleons for camouflage and some snakes for poison). However, they also hop quickly, which is unique for escaping danger.
