Generation Gap: Bridging the Divide

In a world of screens, where pixels glow bright,
Let's talk about the gap that's causing a fight.
Between teens and adults, a chasm so wide,
It's time we took a journey to see what's inside.
The teens of today, they're tech-savvy, it's true,
With gadgets and apps, they know what to do.
Snapchat, TikTok, and Instagram too,
A whole new language they've learned to pursue.
But adults, they're baffled, it's like a new land,
They struggle to understand this digital strand.
Facebook and email, oh, how they're perplexed,
They long for the days when things were less complex.
Yet, let's not forget, there's wisdom in age,
Experience and stories from life's lengthy stage.
Teens, be patient, and listen with care,
For the bridge to understanding, we all must repair.
So, let's come together, young and old,
Share stories and laughter, let's break the mold.
For in this vast world, we're not far apart,
It's the love and connection that bind every heart.
