

Name _____

How Do Giraffes Reproduce?

Short Answer Key

1. Male giraffes compete using a behavior called "necking."
2. Standing quickly helps the calf avoid predators.
3. Giraffe mothers protect their young by staying in groups with other females and their calves.
4. Baby giraffes drink their mother's milk.
5. Giraffe reproduction is important to keep the species population healthy, especially in the wild.

