

Name _____

Inside the Government of Indonesia

Short Answer Key

1. The People's Consultative Assembly (MPR) in Indonesia plays a role in amending the constitution and electing the President and Vice President.
2. Governors at the provincial level and mayors at the city level in Indonesia have the authority to manage local affairs.
3. One challenge Indonesia faces in its democratic journey is corruption. The government is addressing this issue through anti-corruption initiatives and measures to promote transparency and accountability.
4. Elections in Indonesia are crucial for citizens to exercise their right to vote and have a say in their government. Citizens have the right to vote in presidential, legislative, and local elections.
5. The Vice President in the executive branch of the Indonesian government supports the President in governing the country and may take on specific roles and responsibilities as assigned by the President.

