Navigating Pakistan's Government: A Closer Look

Short Answer Key

1. Possible answer: The true executive authority in Pakistan's government rests with the Prime Minister, who is the head of government. The Prime Minister is selected as the leader of the political party with the most seats in the National Assembly.
2. Possible answer: The Supreme Court of Pakistan plays a crucial role in interpreting the constitution, upholding justice, safeguarding individual rights, and resolving legal disputes.
3. Possible answer: Pakistan's Parliament consists of two houses—the National Assembly, where Members of the National Assembly (MNAs) are elected by the people, and the Senate, composed of senators elected by members of provincial assemblies.
4. Possible answer: General elections are held in Pakistan every five years, and they are significant in a democratic system as they allow citizens to exercise their right to vote and choose their leaders, ensuring that the government reflects the will of the people.
5. Possible answer: Historically, Pakistan's military has played a significant role in the country's politics. In recent years, efforts have been made to strengthen democratic institutions and maintain civilian supremacy over the military.
