What Do Guppies Eat?

Open-Ended Response Answer Key

1. Guppies eat both plants and animals because it gives them more food options, helping them survive in different habitats.
2. By eating both algae and small creatures, guppies can adapt to various environments with different types of food available.
3. If guppies didn't eat mosquito larvae, mosquito populations might grow, leading to more mosquitoes and diseases.
4. To give guppies a balanced diet, I would feed them fish flakes daily and occasionally give them vegetables or live food like brine shrimp.
