

Name _____

Hills vs. Mountains: Exploring the Differences

Multiple Choice Questions

1. What is the primary distinction between hills and mountains?
 - a. Their age
 - b. Their elevation
 - c. Their geological formation
 - d. Their location on Earth

2. How are hills and mountains similar in terms of land use?
 - a. Both are primarily used for agriculture.
 - b. Both are known for their rugged terrain.
 - c. Both are used for skiing and mountaineering.
 - d. Both have rounded summits.

3. Which geological process can lead to the formation of hills?
 - a. Tectonic plate collisions
 - b. Volcanic eruptions
 - c. Erosion
 - d. Glacial activity

4. What is a common characteristic of mountains?
 - a. Rounded summits
 - b. Lower elevation
 - c. Fertile soil for farming
 - d. Steep slopes and jagged peaks

5. Why are mountains culturally significant in many societies?
 - a. Due to their small size and gentle slopes
 - b. Because they are ideal for agriculture
 - c. Because they often feature historical sites
 - d. For their spiritual and cultural importance

