

Name _____

The Time-Traveling Journal: A Tale of Historical Discovery

Short Answer Key

1. Answers may vary but could include descriptions of historical eras or events witnessed through the time-traveling journal, such as the Renaissance in Italy or the American Civil Rights Movement.
2. Sarah felt the responsibility not to alter the course of history but to use her knowledge to inspire others and make positive changes in her own time. She handled it by sharing her experiences and encouraging others to learn from the past.
3. Sarah's sharing of her experiences in Oakridge ignited a passion for history among her friends and classmates, making the library a hub for historical exploration and learning.
4. The time-traveling journal serves as a symbol of the magic of history, representing the idea that the past is a living story waiting to be explored and learned from.
5. Sarah was motivated to continue exploring the past through the journal by her curiosity about history, her desire to learn from the experiences of those who came before her, and her passion for sharing those stories with others.

