

Name _____

History Repeats

Multiple Choice Questions

1. What was the main reason people were accused in the Salem witch trials?
 - a) They were caught doing magic.
 - b) A group of girls claimed they were witches.
 - c) They confessed to being witches.
 - d) They wanted to join the witchcraft group.

2. How is The Crucible connected to the Red Scare?
 - a) It shows how people can be unfairly accused during times of fear.
 - b) It proves that witches were real in the 1600s.
 - c) It explains how the Red Scare ended.
 - d) It shows how the government helped stop unfair accusations.

3. What is an allegory?
 - a) A law that punishes communists.
 - b) A history book about witches.
 - c) A story that teaches a lesson through a hidden meaning.
 - d) A story about real witches in Salem.

4. Why did Arthur Miller write The Crucible?
 - a) To show how history repeats itself when fear takes over.
 - b) To entertain people with a scary witch story.
 - c) To teach people how to find real witches.
 - d) To explain the laws of the 1600s.

5. What lesson can we learn from The Crucible?
 - a) Confessing to something false is the best way to stay safe.
 - b) Witches were real and dangerous.
 - c) People should always trust the government.
 - d) Fear and false accusations can harm innocent people.