

Name _____

The Great Homework Rebellion

Multiple Choice Questions

1. What inspired Lily and Max to start "The Great Homework Rebellion" in Absurdistan?

- a) They wanted more homework.
- b) They disliked the town's peculiar mayor.
- c) They were tired of piles of homework and bizarre school rules.
- d) They wanted to become famous.

2. Who was Mayor Peculiarnose, and why did he become involved in negotiations with Lily and Max?

- a) He was a famous actor in Absurdistan.
- b) He had an unusual obsession with socks and proposed a compromise.
- c) He was the principal of Absurdistan High School.
- d) He was a renowned chef.

3. What was the compromise that Lily and Max agreed to with Mayor Peculiarnose?

- a) Students would have even more homework.
- b) Tests would be replaced with "Sock Puppet Theater."
- c) Students would have to write love letters to their textbooks.
- d) Comic books would be banned.

4. How did the school in Absurdistan change as a result of the rebellion and the negotiated compromise?

- a) Students focused more on homework than ever before.
- b) Socks became the stars of the school, and students performed sock puppet plays.
- c) Tests were made even more challenging.
- d) The school closed down.

5. What was the ultimate legacy of "The Great Homework Rebellion" in Absurdistan?

- a) It led to stricter homework policies.
- b) It became a legend and celebrated absurdity.
- c) It resulted in the removal of Mayor Peculiarnose.
- d) It made students even more miserable.

