

Name _____

Homework's Burden

Short Answer Key

1. "Seeking freedom's light" means trying to find a way to escape from the burden and stress of never-ending homework, looking for a break or relief.
2. Piles of books can contribute to stress by representing the amount of reading and studying required for homework, which can be overwhelming.
3. Answers will vary. Students can share their experiences and feelings about dealing with endless homework.
4. The poet may hope to find a break from their schoolwork, a moment of relaxation, or a sense of freedom from academic responsibilities.
5. Time management and organization can help students allocate time efficiently for homework, reducing stress and allowing for more free time.

