Where Horses Live: Habitats Around the World

Short Answer Key

1. Horses need open spaces to run, exercise, and find food easily.
2. Wild horses can be found in the western United States and grassy steppes in Europe and Asia.
3. Horses don't live in the ocean because they cannot swim long distances and cannot find grass to eat.
4. Horses eat grass, hay, and other plants in their natural habitat.
5. People care for domesticated horses by providing food, water, shelter, and space to graze and run.
