

Name _____

How Horses Communicate

Open-Ended Response Answer Key

1. Body language is important because it helps horses share their feelings and stay safe.
2. Understanding communication can help a person know when a horse feels calm or upset.
3. A horse might neigh and pin its ears back to show both excitement and frustration.
4. Horses in herds need to communicate often to warn each other about danger and stay connected.

