Huck's Growth

Short Answer Key

1. Huck sees Jim as just an enslaved person, the way society has taught him.
2. Huck feels ashamed because he sees that he hurt Jim's feelings.
3. Huck realizes Jim has emotions and cares about his family, just like anyone else.
4. Huck says this because he decides to help Jim, even if society tells him it is wrong.
5. Huck's friendship with Jim helps him see that doing the right thing sometimes means going against unfair rules.
