

Name _____

Life as a Human Cannonball

Open-Ended Questions Answer Key

Suggested Answer: I would start by stretching and warming up to make sure I'm flexible and ready. I'd check the cannon and the safety net to make sure everything is set up correctly. I'd also practice my flight posture and mentally focus on staying calm and confident.

Suggested Answer: The most exciting part is flying through the air because it's a unique experience that few people get to try, and it must feel like being weightless for a moment.

Suggested Answer: It might be hard to be away from family and friends for long periods. Also, constantly traveling would mean adjusting to new places and sleeping in different environments.

Suggested Answer: They inspire audiences by showing bravery and pushing the limits of what people can do. Watching their performance reminds people to take risks and follow their dreams, no matter how scary it might seem.

