

Name _____

In-Law Intrigue

Multiple Choice Questions

1. What is the central conflict in the story "In-Law Intrigue"?
 - a) Sarah and John's wedding day is ruined.
 - b) Sarah's parents offer unsolicited advice.
 - c) John's parents drop by unannounced.
 - d) Sarah and John want to divorce.

2. Why do Sarah and John feel overwhelmed by their in-laws?
 - a) Their in-laws criticize their cooking skills.
 - b) They constantly receive gifts from their in-laws.
 - c) Their in-laws interfere with their daily lives and decisions.
 - d) Their in-laws encourage them to spend more time together.

3. How do Sarah and John address the issue with their in-laws?
 - a) They avoid talking to their in-laws.
 - b) They ask their in-laws to move in with them.
 - c) They have an open and honest conversation, setting boundaries.
 - d) They decide to move away and cut ties with their families.

4. What was the initial reaction of their in-laws when Sarah and John discussed their need for space?
 - a) They were understanding and immediately respected the boundaries.
 - b) They resisted and felt hurt by the request.
 - c) They laughed and made fun of Sarah and John.
 - d) They cried and begged for forgiveness.

5. How does the story end for Sarah and John?
 - a) They get divorced.
 - b) They move in with Sarah's parents.
 - c) They strengthen their bond and create their own traditions.
 - d) They decide to live separately from each other.

