How Kangaroos Communicate

Open-Ended Response Answer Key

1. Body language is important for non-verbal communication, especially when animals need to warn or comfort each other.
2. Kangaroo communication helps keep the mob safe by warning of danger and ensuring order.
3. (Example) I saw a dog wagging its tail happily when it was excited.
4. (Example) I would create a tail pattern display to show emotions clearly, as it could be easily visible.
