Laughter and Life

Open-Ended Response Answer Key

(Answers may vary, but here are possible responses.)

1. Without Templeton, the story would not be as funny because his selfish and sneaky behavior makes many scenes humorous.
2. Funny moments help make the sad parts easier to handle by giving readers joy and reminding them that life has happy moments, too.
3. Humor is important in storytelling because it makes books more enjoyable and keeps readers engaged.
4. My favorite funny scene is when Wilbur tries to spin a web because it shows how playful and curious he is.
