

Name _____

Leading the Way

Open-Ended Response Answer Key

1. Washington's decision to step down was important because it showed that presidents should not have too much power and should follow rules.
2. A good president should be fair, honest, and care about the people.
3. (Opinion-based) A student might say they would create a tradition of visiting schools every year to hear from kids.
4. Early presidents needed to make big decisions because the government was new, and they had to figure out how it should work.

