

Name _____

The Life Cycle of a Rabbit

Open-Ended Response Answer Key

1. Rabbits grow and develop quickly to increase their chances of survival in environments where predators are common.
2. Wild rabbits face challenges like predators and harsh weather, but they overcome them by being fast, building burrows, and staying alert.
3. In very cold environments, rabbits might need thicker fur and deeper burrows, while in hot environments, they might need to stay active during cooler parts of the day.
4. To help a pet rabbit live a long life, I would provide it with healthy food, clean water, a safe home, and regular veterinary care.

