

Name _____

Life's Journey

Multiple Choice Questions

1. What does the boy's childhood stage in the story represent?
 - a) A time when people enjoy simple joys and need love and care
 - b) A time when people are independent and seek success
 - c) A time when people take from others without giving back
 - d) A time when people are focused on making money

2. Why does the boy take the tree's apples, branches, and trunk?
 - a) He wants to care for the tree
 - b) He wants to plant new trees
 - c) He does not want the tree to grow anymore
 - d) He needs them for different life goals, like making money and building a home

3. How does the boy's attitude toward the tree change over time?
 - a) He always appreciates the tree and visits it daily
 - b) He becomes more focused on his own needs and only returns when he wants something
 - c) He refuses to take anything from the tree
 - d) He gives back to the tree as much as he takes

4. What does the tree's stump at the end of the story symbolize?
 - a) The end of a friendship
 - b) The idea that nature always grows back quickly
 - c) The final stage of life, where rest and reflection are important
 - d) A warning that trees should not be cut down

5. What is one lesson that The Giving Tree teaches about life?
 - a) People should always take what they need without thinking about others
 - b) It is important to appreciate and give back to those who support us
 - c) Money and success are the most important parts of life
 - d) Trees are only useful when they are tall and full of leaves

