

Name _____

Living Letters

Short Answer Key

1. Personification is when non-human things act like people. In the story, letters race, climb, and fall just like kids do.
2. The letters show emotions by feeling excited, scared, surprised, or embarrassed when they fall.
3. The tree makes the story fun and adventurous, like a playground for the letters.
4. The uppercase letters represent parents or teachers who help when things go wrong.
5. The story makes learning fun by giving the letters personality and turning them into characters with emotions.

