Magazine Mosaic: A Story in Clippings

Cut-out words and phrases, a poetic creation,

From magazines' pages, a new narration.

In a colorful collage, stories unite,

A found poem emerges, in the soft twilight.

"Adventure awaits," a headline declares,

Mountains to climb, no worries or cares.

"Explore the unknown," whispers a phrase,

In journeys and quests, our spirits ablaze.

"Recipes for happiness," a culinary delight,

Mixing joy and laughter, day and night.

"Friendship blooms," in letters so bright,

In bonds that strengthen, like stars in the light.

"Love letters," penned in ink so deep,

Hearts entwined, promises to keep.

"Dream big," a motto to live by,

In aspirations and goals, we aim for the sky.

"Artistic expression," colors run free,

Brushstrokes of passion, for all to see.

"Music of the soul," a melodious grace,

In notes and lyrics, our emotions embrace.

"Words of wisdom," from voices of old,

In books and quotes, their stories unfold.

"Family first," a cherished embrace,

In hugs and laughter, love's warm grace.

"Travel memories," in photographs vivid,

Capturing moments, where dreams are lived.

"Nature's wonders," a scenic view,

In forests and oceans, skies so blue.

Cut-out words and phrases, a unique blend,

In a mosaic of stories, from end to end.

A found poem emerges, as clippings align,

In the world of magazines, a tale intertwined.
