

Name _____

The Metamorphosis of Max

Open-Ended Response Answer Key

1. Max likely felt shocked, bewildered, and frustrated when he found himself transformed into an action figure. During this strange time, he may have experienced a mix of fear, loneliness, and longing to communicate with his family.
2. Max's family demonstrated qualities of open-mindedness, empathy, and unconditional love. They believed his incredible story and offered their support, showing their willingness to understand and accept him even in the face of the extraordinary.
3. The story emphasizes the importance of family bonds, effective communication, and the capacity for understanding and acceptance. It suggests that love and understanding are more valuable than physical possessions.
4. Max's perspective on collecting and cataloging items changed as he realized that the bonds of love and understanding were more important than physical possessions. He learned that memories and shared experiences with his family held greater significance.

