

Name _____

The Absurd Adventures of Max Misadventure

Multiple Choice Questions

1. What was the philosophy embraced by the residents of Quixotica?
 - a) Logic and reason in all things.
 - b) Absurdity and the peculiar as the norm.
 - c) Strict adherence to practicality.
 - d) Minimalism and simplicity in daily life.

2. How did Max Misadventure respond when Professor Pragmatism criticized his absurd pursuits?
 - a) He agreed with Professor Pragmatism and abandoned his absurd activities.
 - b) He continued his absurd escapades and defended their importance.
 - c) He joined Professor Pragmatism in promoting practicality in the town.
 - d) He left Quixotica in search of a more rational place to live.

3. What marked the beginning of the clash of philosophies between Max Misadventure and Professor Pragmatism?
 - a) Max's decision to organize a synchronized shopping cart ballet.
 - b) Professor Pragmatism's attempt to ban rubber chickens.
 - c) Professor Pragmatism's disapproval of Max's goldfish square dance.
 - d) Max's proposal for town meetings conducted while riding unicycles.

4. How did the residents of Quixotica become divided during the clash between the Absurdists and the Pragmatists?
 - a) They formed a united front to confront both Max and Professor Pragmatism.
 - b) They organized a series of debates to resolve their differences.
 - c) They found themselves taking sides between embracing absurdity and promoting practicality.
 - d) They all decided to leave Quixotica in search of more reasonable towns.

5. What event led to the unity and realization among the townspeople about the importance of balance between order and absurdity?
 - a) The "National Silly Sock Day."
 - b) Professor Pragmatism's legislation to write all books in bullet-point format.
 - c) Max Misadventure catapulting himself into a giant custard pie.
 - d) The synchronized shopping cart ballet.

