Moonlit Reflections

Beneath the silvery moon's soft glow,
The sea whispered secrets, ebb and flow.
Two timeless symbols, hand in hand,
Unveiling endless possibilities, they stand.
The moon, a lantern in the sky,
With dreams and hopes, it's set so high.
A beacon for wanderers, a guide so bright,
It bathes the world in its gentle light.
The sea, a vast and boundless space,
Where waves embrace with a tender grace.
A canvas for stories, a cradle for dreams,
It sings of life's infinite streams.
Together they dance, in celestial trance,
A cosmic waltz, a mystic romance.
The moon's reflection upon the tide,
Unveils secrets buried deep inside.
The sea mirrors the moon's soft gleam,
A portal to realms, it may seem.
With each ripple, a new tale unfolds,
As endless as the universe, as vast as untold.
The moon whispers to the heart's desire,

In its light, we find our way,

To a world where dreams forever sway.

A sailor's song, wild and free.
