

Name _____

Where Do Moths Call Home?

Short Answer Key

1. Forests and grasslands are two types of environments where moths live.
2. Moths in deserts stay active at night to avoid the heat and feed on desert plants like cacti.
3. Tropical regions are home to many moths because of the abundance of food, warmth, and shelter.
4. Moths pollinate plants and provide food for animals like birds and bats.
5. Moths need safe places to lay their eggs so their larvae can survive and grow.
